THE GOLDEN FLOWER

by Logan Ben
Once upon a time there was a 8 year old boy named Jack, who lived in a castle with his mother and servants. One day Jack's mother was very ill. Jack knew that his mother was very old and could she might pass on. Jack didn't want her to die so he talked to the potion keeper, the castle's wizard.
The potion keeper said, "there is a flower called the sun reaper flower and it only grows on a tall mountain, where there is a lot of sun. But you have to cross the forbidden forest," said the potion keeper. "Oh," Jack said.
The next day, Jack woke up and went to the potion keeper. The potion keeper gave Jack a map, then Jack went off on his big journey. Jack walked for miles, then he felt droopy and tired. It was about midnight. He found a rock and laid down.
When Jack woke up he smelled smoke. FLOOSH! "Fire," cried Jack. He ran as far as he could. Jack wondered what caused that fire, but the good thing was...
Jack still had the map. He looked at the map. There was a mountain on the map and a mountain in front of him. Jack cheered, but he still didn’t have the flower. Jack started up the mountain. Hours later Jack began to get shivers down his spine. Jack heard a ROAR. It was a blizzard. Jack ran up the mountain, but the blizzard was too strong.
BOOM! Jack got knocked out by a boulder. When he woke up, he was laying down in the snow. Jack got up and continued his journey up the mountain. Finally, Jack got to the top. There were clouds around him as he looked around. Then he saw a rock with a golden flower on it. He ran up to it and headed back to the castle.
Back at the castle, Jack smooshed the golden flower into a bowl of soup and gave it to his mother. After two days, Jack's mother was no longer sick and they lived happily ever after.
